BIOGRAPHY

THE POET OF THE MEDITERRANEAN

Giuseppe Cucè is a singer-songwriter and performer from Catania, Sicily, blending Mediterranean poetry with the emotional realism of classic Italian songwriting. Born on 8 September 1972, he moved through painting, contemporary dance and writing before finding in music the place where body, words and voice meet.

In 2008 he began working with producer Riccardo Samperi and TRP Music. His debut La mela e il serpente (2009) was also released in France by the Paris label EDINA Music, and the tour took him to Parisian theatres including Le Trianon and Le Petit Saint-Martin. Attraversando Saturno followed in 2012.

From 2022 a series of singles led to the concept album 21 grammi (2025), reviewed by magazines in more than twenty countries and taken on tour across Italian university radio stations. In July 2026 he opened a new chapter with Estasi e veleno, together with a club tour across Italy.

> “MUSIC STRIPS ME OF MY SKIN AND MY ILLUSIONS, WALKS THROUGH THE MOST SECRET ROOMS OF THOUGHT, DISSOLVES THE BOUNDARIES OF MATTER AND RETURNS MY SOUL TO ITS ORIGINAL FREEDOM.”

NEW SINGLE · 3 JULY 2026

ESTASI E VELENO

His first release after 21 grammi (the title means "ecstasy and poison"): pop with a dance pulse, cinematic arrangements and Mediterranean roots. Beneath the bright surface lies a reflection on the ever-thinner line between truth and fiction, between information, ideologies and individual conscience.

The official video, released on YouTube on 26 June 2026, moves between water, fire and amber light; the photo series was shot among the lava stones of Mount Etna.
